M. M. Miller Returns From Stateline and Eagle Valley.

PIKE'S DIGGINGS

PIKE'S DIGGINGS MINES

THE SPLENDID SHOWING IN THE INDIANA.

The property of the control of the cellitate the sending in of material for a mill, as a plant of some kind will doubtless embellish the property before the coming season is numbered with the past.

Mr. Miller speaks most enthusiastically of the Pike's diggings portion of Stateline district, and he says that in the Amethyst, adjoining the Hakely, owned by the Messra Francis, McDoneid and the Hollinger brothers, the shaft is such that these gentlemen have already decided to erect a five-stamp mill at the mime early in the springs while they will develop the properties which possess excellent surface showings.

At Deer Lodge, in Eagle valley district, Nevada, Mr., Miller and the colonel are also pushing work in the development of the Indiana or Pickett group, which, without a particle of doubt, is destined to rank as a great gold mine. The double compartment shaft on this property has been sunk during the past six weeks to a depth of about 20 feet on a remarkably strong ledge, the workings showing live feet of quarta, which is lively and healthy mother than the colone are higher in Wall street currency, some of the rock beding so rich that it is streaked and splasshed with gold in its native state, the mineral being so liberally sprinkled over and through the quart that it is not necessarying values ranging from $30 to $75 and even higher in Wall street currency, some of the rock beding so rich that it is streaked and splasshed with gold in its native state, the mineral being so liberally sprinkled over and through the quart that it is not necessarying values ranging from $30 to $75 and even higher in Wall street currency, some of the rock beding so rich that in the near vicinity of the Indiana is the Horse Shoe mine, owned by Messrs.

In the near vicinity of the Indiana is the Horse Shoe mine, owned by Messrs, Land, Campbell and Johnson, and this, also, is a property that is full of promise. In the near vicinity of the Indiana is the Horse Shoe mine, owned by Messrs, Land, Campbell and Johnson, and this, also, is a property that is full of promis distance of ever from the cottom of the shaft, there being no diminution in quantity or value.

Mr. Miller speaks most highly of the formation of Stateline and Eagle valley districts, it being his opinion that practically it is identically the same in the two camps, there being but little choice, go where one may, the different localities in this section or on this great mineral some new effering opportunities for investment which would speedily be snapped up were the true merits of these two camps more generally known, and he is of the outnion that in time to come Stateline and Eagle valley districts will enjoy a boom such as is seidom witnessed in this western country.

It seems impossible for the company, for some reason or other, to furnish the necessary cars, and the farmers are complaining loudly. They have been ordered to dig their beets, but have no way of getting rid of them when dug, and hence are very angry that they cannot take advantage of the exceptionally fine weather in harvesting their crop.
